Captain Herndon had just shaved a few minutes prior to his death. He had been subject to heart attacks for some time, it was said, and evidently felt the approach of one. It was believed that in order not to alarm his daughter, who has been in ill-health for seme time, he determined to look himself in the bathroom, that she might not know he had been again stricken. Both Mrs. Herndon and her daughter were prostrated by the shock; and were confined to their beds last night. Besides them, Captain Herndon leaves another daughter, Mrs. Ford, and two sons—Lennie and Charles Herndon. Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Captain Herndon was a native of Orange County, and had been employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for thirty-eight years, rising from the position of freight brakeman to passenger conductor. He was widely known to many of the road's patrons, as well as in railroad circles.

business purposes.

For the garage plan it is urged that such a use of the building would be as acceptable as the use to which it is put at present. The building is only artially occupied, and is a comparatively poor investment from the view-point of the return it makes to the city. A number of stallholders have found that the hour regulations and short business day prescribed by the city for its markets handicap them in competition with meat shops out of the building that stay open all day and have moved from the market. This tendency, according to the Administrative Board, is on the increase, and is constantly reducing the number of ented stalls.

JUDGE REDUCES CHARGE

Inspection Tour by Corporation Commission
18 Postponed.
An inspection of status facilities provided. Finds Dangeleit Guilty of Attempted Grand Larreny Only.

F. Dangeleit pleaded guilty in the Hustings Court yesteringy to the charge of grand lareny growing out of an attempt on his part to sell mortgaged goods which he had purchased from J. A. Black & Co. on the instainent plan, but Judge Richardson thought he was guilty of only attempted grand larreny and sentenced him to serve also months in Jail.

It was developed during the hearing that Dangeleit attempted to dispose of part of the goods to title over a period of monetary stress with no intention of defrauding the company that held the lien Judge Richardson did not think the circumstances warranted him in supporting the charge of grand larceny.

Board Requires Power Company to Remove Wood Construction in West End.
Under an order entered yesterday by the Administrative Board, the Virginia Rallway and Power Company is restricted to the use of iron poles in the West End extension of its car lines. The company, it was reported to the board, has in the part of the extension that has so far been completed, used wooden poles, to which residents in the West End take exception on the ground that they are unsightly and detract from the appearance of that section.
The City Engineer was directed by the board to notify the Virginia Railway and Power Company to substitute iron poles for the wooden ones already in place, and to follow the same plan on the entire extension of its franchise rights in the West End.
The board conferred yesterday with officials of the company, and it is believed that the substitution desired will be effected without difficulty.
